It is optimal for single-word location names and modifiers to be on a single line.
If the length of a single-word location name forces the modifier to drop to the second line, then both words should drop to the second line.

The image shows a logo template for TEDx. The word "TEDx" is in red, with "TED" in a bold sans-serif font and "x" in a smaller, italicized sans-serif font. Below it, the words "Sacramento Women" are in black, also in a bold sans-serif font. The text is centered within a light blue rectangular background. A dashed blue line is positioned between "TEDx" and "Sacramento Women".
